

SATURDAY March 25. 1720.

To the Author of the London Journal.

SIR,

FROM the present Spirit of this Nation, it is still further evident to me, what I have always thought, that the People would constantly be in the Interests of Truth and Liberty, were it not for external Delusion, and external Force. Take away Terror, and Men never would have been Slaves: Take away Imposture, and Men will never be Dupes nor Bigots. The People when they are in the Wrong, are generally in the Wrong through Mistake; and when they come to know it, are apt frankly to correct their own Faults. Of which Candor in them Machiavel has given several Instances, and many more might be given.

But it is not so with Great Men and the Leaders of Parties: who are, for the most Part, in the Wrong through Ambition, and continue in the Wrong through Malice. Their Intention is wicked, and their End criminal; and they commonly aggravate great Crimes by greater. As great Dunces as the Governours of Mankind often are, (and God knows they are often great enough,) they are never Traytors out of meer Stupidity.

Machiavel says, that no wise Man wou'd decline the Judgments of the People in the Distribution of Offices and Honours, and such particular Affairs; (in which I suppose he includes Punishment) for in those Things they are almost infallible.

I could give many Instances wherein the People of England have judged and do judge right; as they always wou'd, were they not misled. They are, particularly, unanimous in their Opinion, that we ought by no Means to part with Gibraltar; and thus their Opinion is grounded upon the same Reasons that sway the wisest Men in this Matter.

They likewise know, that an English War with Moscovy, would be downright Mischiefs; for that, whatever Advantage the latter might be to other Countries, it wou'd grievously hurt the Trade and Navy of England, without hurting the Czar.

They know too, that a Squabble between Spain and the Emperor about Italy, could not much affect England; and that therefore were we to go to War with either, upon that Account, as Things now stand, it could not be for the Sake of England.

They know, that our Men of War might be always as honestly employ'd in defending our Trade, by which our Country subsists, from the Depredations of Pyrates, as in conquering Kingdoms for those, to whom the Nation is nothing oblig'd, or in defending Provinces, with which the Nation has nothing to do, and from which it reaps no Advantage.

They know, that it is of great Concernment to any People, that the Heir Apparent to their Crown be bred amongst them; not only that he may be reconciled, by habit, to their Customs and Laws, and grow in Love with their Liberties; but that at his Accession to the Throne, he may not be engross'd and misled by Foreigners, who will be always in the Interests of another Country, and consequently will be attempting to mislead him into Measures mischievous to his Kingdom, and advantageous to themselves, or their own Nation.

The People know, that those are the best Ministers, who do the most Good to their Country, or rather the least Mischiefs: They can feel Misery and Happiness, as well as those that govern them; and will always, in spite of all Arts, love those that do them a sensible Good, and abhor, as they ought, those that load them with Evils. Hence proceeds the Popularity, and the great and unenvied Characters of our present Governours; who, besides the memorable and prosperous Projects which they have brought to Maturity, for the Good of Great Britain and Ireland, would likewise have oblig'd us with another Present, but very few Years since, which would have compleated all the rest, if we had had the Courtship to have accepted it.

It is certain, that the People, when left to themselves, do generally, if not always, judge well; we have just now a glaring Instance of it in the loud and unanimous Call of all Men, that Mr. Knight may be brought over; I say, the Call of all Men, except the Directors and their Accomplishers. Nay, the People judge well, as to the Cause of his going away; they more than guess for whose Sake, and by whose Intertion, he went; and they are of Opinion that, were he here, the Trials of Guilt in the House of Commons would be much shorter, and the Tower of London still more nobly inhabited. I am indeed surpris'd that he is not already in London, considering of what Consequence it is to have him here, both to the Publick, and to private Men.

Whether the Directors and their Masters shall be punished or no, is to me one and the same Question, as to ask, whether you will preserve your Constitution or no, or whether you will have any Constitution at all? It is a Contention of Honesty and Innocence with Villany and Falshood; it is a Dispute whether or no you shall be a People; it is a Struggle, and, if it is pushed, will, in all probability, be the last Struggle, for old English Liberty. All this is well understood by the People of England.

Now, tho' the inferior Knaves are in a fair Way of being hang'd, yet our Top Traytor, having transacted all their Villanies in the South Sea with Mr. Knight alone, or with Mr. Knight chiefly, will think themselves always safe, so long, as they can keep him abroad; and while he continues abroad, the Nation's Vengeance can never be half complet.

As to my own particular, I am so sanguine in this Affair, that the very Reasons commonly given why he will not be brought over, are to me very good Reasons why he will be brought over: I cannot but wonder, to hear any Doubts about it. I am sure those who suggest such Doubts, must suggest with the same Breath, very terrible Crimes against some very considerable Men.

The Business of bringing over Mr. Knight is become the Business of the Ministry, and incumbent on them only. It is become their Duty to their Master, King GEORGE, as they would preserve entirely to him the Affections of a willing and contented People, by shewing them, that in Considerations of their mighty Wrongs (which the said Ministry did all in their Power to prevent) they shall have all fair Play for Justice and Restitution. And it is in this Respect too, become the Duty of the Ministry to the People, whose Humours it is their Business to watch, and whose Interest it is their Business to study, as much as the Interest of the King himself; and it will be owned, to the Praise of the present Set, that they have constantly consult'd and pursu'd the one as much as the other, with equal Skill and Honesty; and so far King and People are equally oblig'd to them.

As

It was not a little tedious to have it form'd, which, it is said, was much more than was expected.

LAST Week Mr. Marshall, Secretary to the General Post-Office, was displaced, and is succeeded by Mr. Clarke, one of the Officers of the Foreign Office.

Our Letters from Holland bring an Account of the Death of Luise Queen of Denmark, Daughter of the late Duke of Mecklenburgh-Gutrow, who departed this Life the 15th Instant, after a lingering Sickness. She was married to his Danish Majesty in the Year 1695, and has left behind her a Son born in the Year 1700, and a Daughter in 1702.

The Baltic Squadron will be ready to sail thither the first Week of the next Month, under the Command of Sir John Norris, who hoists his Flag on Board the Sandwich, Admiral Hopson on Board the Dorsetshire, and Admiral Haller on Board the Prince Frederick.

The last Presents brought by the Turkish Ambassador, for the King of France, consist of a Crown and Scepter of Gold, embellished with Diamonds, worth Two Millions, besides Two fine Horses, one of which is of a small size richly caparison'd.

The Lady Diana Spencer, Daughter of the Earl of Sunderland, is ill of the Small-Pox.

On Saturday last Three Homeward-bound East-India Ships arrived in the Downs very richly laden, viz. the Princess Anne, Capt. Luborn, from Mochoa, having on Board, among other Commodities, great Quantities of Coffee, the Hanover, Capt. Bond, from Bombay; and the Godfrey, Capt. Payn, from Ben-Goela and Fort St. George.

Letters from Jamaica, dated Jan. 26, tell us, that a Pirate Ship, carrying between 30 and 40 Guns, had lately taken several Vessels on that Coast, among which were two French, one Dutch, and as 'twas said some English; and when those Advices came away, the said Pirate was gone to Martinico.

On the 20th Instant will be held a General Court of the Bank of England, for Electing a Governor and Sub-Governor of the said Corporation; and on the following Day another General Court will be held for electing 24 Directors.

Letters from Barbadoes inform us, that the Vessel was safely arrived which carried over the Order of the Lords Justices for restoring Mr. Cox to his Place in the Council, (from whence he was arbitrarily remov'd by the late Governor Lowther, to make Way for his Creature and Kinsman) and for empowering him to take upon himself the Administration of the Government of the Island, till a Governor should be sent over. All which had been accordingly executed; and all the Members of the Council have been displac'd by Mr. Cox, except the Honourable John Colleton, and Richard Lightfoot, Esq. The same Letters add, that the Assembly then in being, which were chosen by the Practice of the most subtle Artifices, did all that was possible to distress the said Mr. Cox; and that the spirit of the Faction was kept up merely on the Assurances they had from hence, that as soon as the King came home, all that had been done in Behalf of that distressed Island would be revers'd, and that the new Vessels would restate them in their former Power of doing Mischief; But this impudent Insinuation was judg'd to very improbable, that 'twas only the inferior Creatures that were language enough to be influenced by it.

Last Week died the Reverend Mr. Bradley, Chaplain to his Grace the Duke of Richmond, of the Small-Pox. And on Monday the Lord Viscount Lubbock of the Kingdom of Ireland, departed this Life; he is succeeded in Honour and Estate by his eldest Son John, now Lord Lubbock.

Sir Robert Banks Jenkinson, Bart. is chosen Recorder of the City of Oxford, in the Room of William Wright, Esq. deceased, late one of the Judges of South-Wales.

Hugh Fortescue of Eily in the County of Devon, Esq. having lately demanded a Writ of Summons to Parliament, pursuant to a Claim by Right of Marriage that hath lain dormant in the Family for above 100 Years, is accordingly call'd up to the House of Lords by the Title of Baron Clinton.

Warrants are issued out for impressing Seamen for the Baltic Squadron.

At Hertford Assizes, one Mary Maxwell was try'd upon an Indictment for Subornation of Perjury, in hiring Witnesses to perjure other People to swear they knew her, and saw her quit great Quantities of Gold into her Stays, which she pretended she was robbed of in the Liberty of St. Albans, to the Amount of above 300 l. which she had said the Liberty for; and in order to recover, had suborn'd these Witnesses to be examined at the Assizes before, at her Tryal with the Hundred, when they discover'd the Villany, and my Lord Chief Justice Pratt committed her; and at the same Assizes, the Grand Jury found the Bill against her, to which she then pleaded Not Guilty, and travers'd the Indictment; but was now found Guilty, and sentenced to be pillory'd.

On Saturday the House of Lords having heard Counsel in relation to the Seat to be taken by the Lord Clinton, called up by Writ, as mentioned above, to the House of Peers; resolv'd that the said Lord Clinton should be seated next to the Lord Fitzwater; whereupon his Lordship took the Oath, and his Seat accordingly.

Denys Daly, Esq. who was a Privy-Councillor to King James the II. and one of his Judges, dy'd on the 15th Instant at Dublin in Ireland, being Threescore and Eighteen Years of Age.

At the Precedent's Intercession, the Pope is resolv'd to Cardinal Alberoni, who has issued a Non Prosequi suspending a farther Enquiry about his Life and Conduct.

We hear that last Week the Charge of 30,000 l. Stock, said to be given to the late Mr. Cragge, Senior, was to have been considered of, but his Death has put a stop to it; however, 'tis said a Bill will, if it appears equitable, be brought in to inquester Part of his Estate for the Use of the South Sea Company.

Above 50 Sail of Homeward-bound Ships, have within a few Days past, the Wind having been fair, arriv'd from the Indies, Spain, Portugal, and the streights.

'Tis said, that on Monday last the Duke of Marlborough lodg'd an Appeal in the House of Lords, against a late Decree of the Barons of the Exchequer, in favour of the Workmen employ'd in building Benetum House, in Oxfordshire, and the Respondents are allow'd a Fortnight's Time to put in their Answer.

They write from Jamaica, that the Honourable Colonel Francis Rolle, President of the Council of that Island, a Gentleman of great Worth and Esteem, died there in December last, whose Death was much lamented by the Rich, and extrange Charity much shew'd by the Poor.

Toile Letters add, that on December 13. the Oldfield, Capt. Mitchell arriv'd there in Eight Weeks from Falmouth, which brought thither between Twenty and Thirty Miners from Cornwall, to work on the Mines lately discover'd in that Island, in expectation of much richer Ore than that in Cornwall.

They further add, that John Rahan, Captain, George Featherstone, Master, and Seven other Crew-mates, were execut'd at St. Jago de la Vega, for Robbery and Piracy on the High Seas, whereof the Two first were hang'd in Chains for a Terror to others.

We are credibly inform'd, that the Design of Establishing an East-India Company in the Austrian Netherlands, is suspended.

'Tis still said, that the Kings of Poland and Prussia will have an Interview with the Czar at Riga.

We hear, that the Elector Palatine finding his Officers very remiss in Executing his Commands touching the Protestants, has renew'd his Orders to them, forthwith to redress the Grievances of these People.

On Saturday the 18th Instant George Nevil, Baron of Abergenny, in the County of Monmouth, died of a Dropic at his Seat at Sheffield, near Lewis in Suffolk. He married Anne, Daughter to Nicholas Walker of Middlesex, Esq. by whom he hath now living two Sons and two Daughters; whereof the eldest Son, George, who now succeeds his Father in his Honour and Estate, is Nineteen Years of Age.

Just now there is a Report, that by an Express from Paris, there is Advice that the Pope is dead.

An amicable Cause is commenc'd in Chancery, between the Relations of the late Mr. Frederick, of Westminster, who is reported to have died worth 300,000 l. concerning the Execution of his Will; the Parties being desirous of the Opinion of the Court in the Cause.

Last Monday a poor distressed Gentleman came into the Court of Requests at Westminster, and made a great Disturbance, by demanding his Right of Peerage, being, as he said, the lawful Heir of the Lord Lisburne, deceased; and growing to very turbulent and uneasy on that Head, the Lords Footmen told him, they would appoint a Day to consider of his Pretensions; but not satisfied with that, he grew so outrageous that they were forced to secure him.

'Tis said, that either the Lord Lumley, Mr. Galfridus Walpole, or Mr. Carteret, will succeed the late James Cragge, Esq. as Joint Post-Master General.

Richard Carter, Esq. one of the Judges of North-Wales, is made a Judge of South Wales, in the Room of William Wright, Esq. deceased; and John Willes, Esq. one of his Majesty's Council, is made a Judge of North-Wales, in the Room of the said Mr. Carter.

We hear, that an Officer from the Board of Ordinance, is preparing to set out to visit his Majesty's Stores in the several Garisons in England.

On Monday three Pattern Coats of the new Cloaths designed for the Regiments of Foot Guards, against his Majesty's Birthday, were presented as usual, for Approbation.

Last Tuesday Morning the Body of a Gentleman drowned in the Thames, was found nigh the Old Swan Stairs; he had a good Suit of Black Cloaths on, two Rings on his Finger, but as they say, no Money in his Pocket. It is not discover'd who he is, nor how he came into that Condition.

To be sold, at Fifteen Pence each Half pint Bottle, and Two Shillings and Three-pence each Pin.

* A Fresh Parcel of the best Hungary Water that ever was imported from Montpellier; its Virtues will be best known by its Use, so that many Words in the Praise of it are altogether needless, since after Experiment it will be found so effectual in plumping and smoothing the Face, and carrying off all outward Defilements of the Skin, as well as removing several inward Maladies, with which the Fair Sex is aggrieved, if taken according to the Directions given with it. It is sold at so low a Price, little higher than prime Cost, only to prevent Impositions by Counterfeits and Pretenders to Importations; when it can be proved, that two other Advertisers of the same Nature vend their Home-made adulterated Ware for that of Foreign Growth. To be had only from John Cluer at the Printing-Office in Bow-Church yard, Cheapside, and Thomas Heston, Mathematical Instrument-maker, next the Fountain Tavern in the Strand.

9. N<sup>o</sup> 80. Mr. — B. a young Gentleman, who had been for a long Time afflicted with WORMS, against which he used various Means, but found no Relief, till he applied himself to Mr. JOHN MOORE, Apothecary, at the Pellicle and Mortar in Abchurch-Lane, in Lombard-Street, and by taking my WORM MEDICINE, has lately brought away a large WORM five Yards long. The Gentleman's Name I have not obtained the Liberty to publish. But the many CONFIRMED CURES of the like Nature I have performed, of which I have authentick Testimonies, will, I think, leave no room to doubt of the Verity of this.

§§ The incomparable Powder for cleaning the Teeth, which has given so great Satisfaction to most of the Nobility and Gentry in England, for above these 15 Years that it hath been published, notwithstanding the many Counterfeits since its first Publication, (particularly one at the next Shop to Mr. Markham's, pray beware on't) endeavouring to imitate this the only true Original Powder: Sold only at Mr. Halsey's, Bookbinder, in St. Michael's Church-Porch, in Cornhill, and Mr. Markham's, Toyshop, at the Seven Stars under St. Dunstan's Church in Fleetstreet, and no where else in England. It at once whiten the Teeth as white as Ivory, though never so black or yellow, and effectually preserves them from rotting or decaying, continuing them found to exceeding old Age. It wonderfully cures the Scurvy in the Gums, prevents Rheum or Inflammation, kills Worms at the Root of the Teeth, and thereby hinders the Tooth-ach: It admirably fastens loose Teeth, being a most cleanly Medicine, of a pleasant and grateful Smell. Price 1 s. the Box. N. B. At the same Place is sold the highly esteemed Lip-Salve for Ladies, &c. of a charming and delightful Smell. Price 1 s. each Box.

GIBSON'S MOST EXCELLENT CORDIAL HORSE BALLS.

Also his extraordinary Preparation of Antimony, at Five Shillings per Pound, which prevents Grease falling to, or stiffness in the Limbs after hard Riding; cures those that are greasy, though never so bad; disperses all Knots and Swellings; preserves the Eyes; purifies the Blood better than purging; cures the Hidesound, makes ruff Coats, occasioned by Surfers, lie fine and smooth, kills all sorts of Worms, with many other peculiar Virtues, better experienced than expressed, are only prepared by Samuel Gibson, Druggist, at the Angel and Crown in Lombard-Street, London, are sold there by him, and at Moor's Coffee House, in York, with printed Directions. N. B. By using these Medicines Spring and Fall there is no need of purging, and Travellers may save many Horfes by having them on the Road, the Operation being immediate and certain in the Gripes, or loss of Appetite from Sickness or Overwork.

§§ Whereas I John Dell, Meslman, dwelling at King's Langley, in Hertfordshire, did, for about a Year and a half, labour under a very great Disorder of Body, being afflicted with a great Fluxion, and Scurvy at my Stomach, Lowness of Spirits, and Lowness, which, as it afterwards appeared was occasioned by Worms, I apply'd my self to several Physicians, but obtained little or no Benefit, but at last hearing of the great Fame of Mr. JOHN MOORE Apothecary, at the Pellicle and Mortar in Abchurch-Lane, near Lombard-Street, I made use of his Medicines, which brought away two large Worms, 6 Foot long each, and above two smaller; after the coming away of which I grew well, and so continued for 4 Months, but not having minded to prosecute my Cure thoroughly, I have experienced them to grow upon me again, and am therefore now under Mr. MOORE'S Hands, not doubting, but with the Blessing of God, he will soon entirely free me from those noxious Enemies to Health. Witness my Hand this 6th of February, 1721.

JOHN DELL.

To all Persons labouring under the VENEREAL or SECRET DISEASE.

The great Numbers daily Cured of Venereal Disorders by the Method proposed in the First Part of the Practical Scheme, sufficiently recommends it to all Persons in these unhappy Circumstances, as the only one to have recourse to. It not being the Loss and Quantities of Physick that does the Work in the Venereal Cure, but 'tis happily hitting upon the RIGHT thing adapted to the Disorder. So that Persons having gone from Place to Place to seek for a Cure, and having try'd and sought all they could, they had recourse at last to the Book entitled, The Practical Scheme in Seven Parts, and by which only they obtained a Cure. This Scheme therefore is (for the publick Good) given gratis, at Mr. Garwey's at the Sign of the Practical Scheme, at the Royal Exchange Gate: And Up One Pair of Stairs, at the Sign of the Colliedred Anodyne NECKLACE, Recommended by Dr. Chamberlain for Childrens Teeth, just by the Rose Tavern without Temple-Bar. Where also is given gratis the Treatise on the PLAGUE, containing Rules for the Prevention and Cure of this dreadful Disemper, which at this time so nearly threatens all Europe.

Made and sold only by John Pindar, at the black Dog and Truss in Bartholomew Close, near West Smithfield, London.

*§ Fine Leather and Dimity Trusses for the Cure of Ruptures, easy to a new born Babe, and effectual in keeping up the Ruptures in Old or Young, and by far exceeds all sorts of Steel Trusses. Those in the Country finding their Rigors round their Waist, and which Side the Rupture is, may be well served. He likewise maketh Strait Stocking and Navel Trusses that are entirely of a new Invention, and the Experience of them has proved a wonderful Happiness to many Persons, even beyond Expectation. N. B. Those that come may depend on a Cure, it curable, he being never known to fail, his Wife being as able and dexterous in curing them of her own Sex. N. B. Those that are disposed to have Steel Trusses, may have of all Sorts. N. B. The said John Pindar married the Daughter of the famous M<sup>r</sup>. William Jones, who practised the Business, and kept the said House for above 30 Years; and for preventing Mistakes, the House goes up with 5 stone Steps.

RIDER'S LOZENGES for the Heartburn:

§§ Whereas several Complaints have been made of some deluging Persons, who have presumed to Counterfeit Rider's famous Lozenges for the Heart-burn, Hiccough, Sower Belching, Strangury, and other Distempers of the like Nature: Among which (Impostors on the Publick) one Mrs. Raw has sold, and now sells such counterfeit Lozenges, pretending they are prepared by the Brother of the deceased Author's Daughter; whereas she alone truly and faithfully prepares the said Lozenges, her Brother having been dead several Years ago: Therefore to detect such Falacies, and base Impositions for the future, all Persons are hereby cautioned to beware of them, for they are Counterfeits, and dangerous. The only true and genuine Rider's Lozenges, formerly sold at Barfon's Coffee-House, and since, for several Years past, by my deceased Mother, Mrs. Garwey, are now only sold, Wholesale and Retail, by me, William Garwey, at my Shop, the Sign of the Book, entitled the Practical Scheme, the South Entrance of the Royal-Exchange, over against Exchange-Alley, Cornhill, and at my House in Swinburn-Alley; (where the Sun Fire-Office is kept) and likewise, by Retail, at Brown's Coffee House in Cheap-side, and no where else; at 6 d. a Paper; Each Paper being sealed with this Coat of Arms, viz. A Chevron between Three Half Moons; the Coat upon a Wreath; above, an He met, a Half Moon between two Wings; To prevent Counterfeits.
